ALL OF WESTERN JAVA HELD BY JAPS

Confiscated Maps Hint Canal 'Interesting' To Japs

WASHINGTON, March 6 — FBI agents, in 4,600 raids in more than 20 American cities, discovered that enemy aliens, mostly Japanese, had hidden away more than 160 maps and illegal photographs of the vital Panama canal, it was learned today.

A careful independent checkup on the raids, based on scattered reports from the various cities, also disclosed that aliens treasured—and hid—more maps of the canal than of any other defense installation.

Besides having maps of the U. S. "life line" between the Atlantic and Pacific, the aliens, many of them held as suspected spies, had charts of Los Angeles harbor, the Monterey section of the Pacific coast, New York harbor and Narragansett Bay, R. I.

FBI officials refused comment on whether the large number of Panama canal maps indicated that the Japanese might be planning to sabotage the canal. They shrugged off inquiries, pointing out that the raids were conducted in close cooperation with the Army's eastern and western defense commands. From separate announcements of the various raids, however, it was ascertained that some of the photographs were of forbidden military areas.

The scattered reports of the raids revealed also that G-men, in the relentless hunt for possible fifth-columnists, had uncovered at least six shortwave sending sets capable of sending messages from the west coast to Japan. One seized at Miami, Fla., was capable of sending shipping reports hundreds of miles into the Caribbean, possibly to lurking German u-boats.

In addition to the short wave sending station seized at Miami, two were confiscated in raids in Los Angeles, two at Dallas, Tex., and one at San Diego, Cal.

After the raids, 1,976 aliens were ordered held for hearings before alien enemy boards of the Justice department, and face internment for the duration of the war. Of the number, 1,646 were Japanese, 198 Germans and 132 Italians. Most of the Japanese were seized in west coast cities, while the Germans and Italians were rounded up in east coast towns.

DUTCH GIVE UP CAPITAL CITY TO INVADERS

Big Guns Heard In Bandung As Nipponese Press Their Offensive to Break Down Last Line Of Defense In Indies

DEFENDERS ADMIT ISLE CUT IN TWO

All Important Installations In Major City Destroyed Before Troops Leave

LONDON, March 6 — Dutch forces today launched a terrific frontal attack and drove the Japanese invaders from the plains of Bandung, it was stated in a Reuter dispatch from Bandung tonight. The Japanese were compelled to withdraw to the north, the dispatch said.

BANDUNG, Java, March 6 — With virtually all of western Java including Batavia sacrificed to a remorseless enemy, the roar of heavy artillery was heard in Bandung today as the battle-lines approached this last main bastion of defense in the Dutch East Indies.

Official circles admitted that the western part of the island had fallen, that Batavia was occupied or soon would be and that Java had been sliced in two by a swiftly-moving Japanese force that captured Jogjakarta on the southern coast.

The N.E.I. high command said the situation was not hopeless—merely serious—but admitted that the courageous, heavily outnumbered defenders of Java had been "worn down" by the endless ranks of hard-hitting enemy forces.

Among the points believed to be in Japanese hands was Buitenzorg, summer residence of the governor general, which lies south of Batavia.

The town was said to have been taken after a vigorous delaying action had been fought by Netherlands Indies and British troops.

Official sources stressed that "action continues against the Japanese everywhere in Java — some defensive and some offensive."

In eastern Java, the defenders were fighting delaying actions and in some cases managed even to push back the enemy.

"Our troops retain their spirit and are determined to make a stand to the last," authoritative quarters said.

Continuous Japanese air activity during the daytime to a large extent has paralyzed United Nations operations, but at night, when enemy planes are inactive, the defenders use the darkness as cover to recapture some of the ground lost during the day.

It is almost impossible, military experts said to give a clear picture of the situation at this time, but it is believed the main enemy forces are in western Java. No military activity has taken place south of Bandung.

Editor's Note: John Bouwer, CBS and Aneta correspondent in Bandung, reported by radio that all Dutch troops have now evacuated Batavia.)

On the basis of official information, the Netherlands East Indies news service, Aneta, said: "Practically all of western Java is now occupied by the Japanese and the Netherlands Indies forces have withdrawn to new positions."

Batavia's Fate Sealed

"Batavia has either been occupied or will shortly be taken. All important installations in the city had been destroyed in advance and many persons were evacuated to the interior."

"It was believed the main war action would develop around Bandung, temporary capital and headquarters of the army."

Heavy artillery fire was heard in Bandung this afternoon, indicating the close approach of enemy forces.

Earlier, the high command admitted that the Japanese had made new gains everywhere and by virtue of greatly superior numbers had "worn down" the courageous defenders of Java.

Latest Japanese success was the capture of Jogjakarta, a city (Continued on Page Eight)

Cat, Girl Reunited

A long trip by ship, train, automobile and airplane from Honolulu to Forest Hills, Long Island, finally has reunited little Rita Ginn and her pet kitten, Bixie. At the time of the Pearl Harbor attack, Rita and her parents were living in Honolulu, where her father, Lieut. Walter S. Ginn, was stationed. Bixie was born during that hectic day, but was left behind when Mrs. Ginn and the girl were evacuated. Lieutenant Ginn, however, sent Bixie on to her mistress later.

Japs Fear Uprising In Philippines

WASHINGTON, March 6—The War department today reported that the Japanese war effort in the Philippines is at a virtual standstill, and that the enemy, evidently in fear of a "popular uprising," has ordered all natives on the islands to surrender their bolos and other weapons.

The War department's communique credited Gen. Douglas MacArthur's surprise air raid of March 4 on Subic bay with having disrupted the enemy's plans for a renewal of the offensive on Bataan.

Intimation of a possible native uprising was based on a Japanese army order directing Filipinos in occupied areas "to surrender guns and blade weapons of every description, including ornamental and utilitarian knives and trophies."

"This order is interpreted by Gen. MacArthur as indicating that the invaders fear that the increasing resentment of the natives may develop into a popular uprising against the Japanese," the communique said.

Seriousness of the order was indicated by the fact that it would deprive the Filipino from his useful bolo, a native knife, without which it would be difficult for Filipinos to earn a livelihood.

GASOLINE CUT, 40 MILE SPEED LIMIT EXPECTED

Rep. Brewster Warns Auto Operators Bad News Yet To Come

FUEL RATIONING NEARS

Own Tires May Be Given Up To Vehicles Needed In Defense, Solon Says

WASHINGTON, March 6—Rep. Brewster (R) Me., today warned the American motorist that the bad news has just begun, as the possibility of tire rationing and rationing of gasoline loomed as a further detour to private transportation.

The grave warnings of Price Administrator Leon Henderson that no crude rubber will be available for new tires or retreading of old ones during the next three years and that it may become necessary to take over private tires, is part of the grim picture in store for the car owner.

To save tires, Henderson said that gasoline may have to be rationed and a nationwide speed limit of 40 miles an hour may be set.

Brewster declared that every motorist "should be aware that he faces the prospect of no new tires, no retreads, a rationing of gasoline, a cut in the speed limits, and the possibility of giving up his own tires to defense vehicles."

Referring to Henderson's figures showing that the U. S. may have enough rubber for defense (Continued on Page Eight)

COST OF LIVING CONTINUES ITS UPWARD MARCH

WASHINGTON, March 6—Mrs. Average Housewife paid 63 percent more for her spuds in January 1942 than she did in January 1941, the agriculture department said today in reporting an 18 percent rise in the cost of retail food for the comparable periods.

Pork products including lard were up 5 percent, dairy products rose one percent, flour 4 percent, rice 9 percent, and potatoes 15 percent above December, 1941, levels, indicating a continued rise.

It was pointed out, however, that the rise in income per non-farm family continued to parallel the rise in retail food prices, so that no higher share of average income was required to purchase the foods in a standard basket than was needed in December, or through 1941.

The department said it expected consumer demand for farm products to show a general rise through 1942, in spite of higher taxes and the sale of government securities.

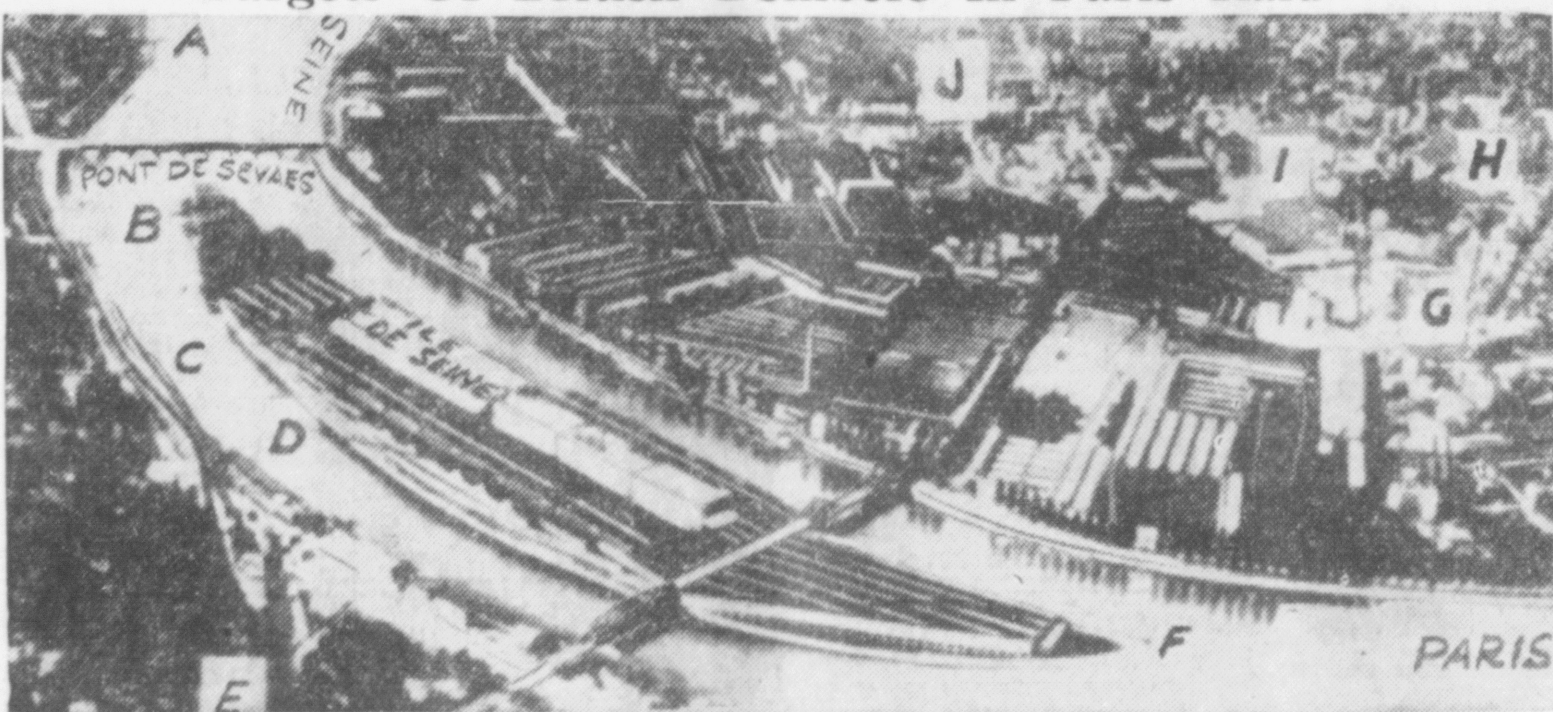

TERWILLIGER TO GIVE UP TIRE RATIONING OFFICE

Judge Meeker Terwilliger is seeking resignation as county tire rationing coordinator.

The pressure of judicial work has made it necessary to abandon the task of heading the county's tire rationing council, Judge Terwilliger said.

His resignation has been filed with the county auditor and will be considered next Monday by the local council of defense, composed of mayors of the various municipalities of the community and the county commissioners.

Targets Of British Bombers In Paris Raid

TWO MEN ADMIT ARMED ROBBERY

Sheriff Says Confessions Of Holdup At Gold Cliff In 1937 Obtained

Sheriff Charles Radcliff said Friday that he had obtained confessions from two men of an armed robbery at Gold Cliff Chateau filling station four miles south of Circleville on April 9, 1937.

The two men, held in county jail since Tuesday, were Arthur Ogan of Springfield and Elmer Brown of Chillicothe.

Sheriff Radcliff said that sheriffs in Madison and Ross counties had arrested the two men after he had received a "tip" that the pair was implicated in the robbery and asked that they be picked up. A third person is being sought.

In the Gold Cliff robbery the bandits escaped with $100 in cash and about $50 in checks. They fled after a tussle with Beryl Greenlee, operator of the filling station. The men entered the station about 11:30 p. m. and went to the rear of the building to drink beer.

When Greenlee started to accept money in payment, one of the men struck him over the head with a beer bottle and looted the cash drawer at the lunch counter. One of the bandits fired a shot at Mrs. Greenlee, the bullet striking a wall.

As the men fled, Greenlee fired six shotgun charges but failed to stop them.

Sheriff Radcliff said Greenlee, who is working in Indianapolis, Indiana, would be in Circleville Saturday and would file charges of armed robbery against Ogan and Brown.

Brown has confessed being one of the men who entered the station. Ogan stayed in the car which was parked down the road, the sheriff said. The third party being sought is the other bandit who entered the station with Brown.

BUILDER PICKS HOLIDAYS FOR SLAPPING THE MISSUS

CHICAGO, March 6—Richard Noe, a building contractor, celebrated all holidays, his wife, Gertrude, charged. For example, she said, he struck her in the mouth last Easter; kicked her out of bed last Thanksgiving, and slapped her face last Christmas.

These were among the reasons she had a divorce today.

THIS photo sent from London shows the sprawling factories of the Renault motor works on the outskirts of Paris which underwent a devastating bombing attack by British warplanes. London claimed that the Nazis were using the plant's facilities for the manufacture of airplane engines. An estimated 600 persons were killed during the bombardment. Tom Mooney, 60, Famed As Labor Organizer, Dies

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6 — Tom Mooney, 60, for more than 20 years' America's most famous prisoner, died in a San Francisco hospital today.

He had been bedridden for two years, and was in ill health almost continuously from the day he was pardoned from San Quentin prison January 7, 1939, by Gov. Culbert Olson.

Only a few days ago he underwent an abdominal operation, and apparently could not withstand the effects of the shock.

Mooney died an almost forgotten figure in the labor scene of today, due perhaps to his severe illness, and it was probable that the average San Franciscan did not know what had become of him.

But during the 22 years and four days he spent in San Quentin for participation in the tragic San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing in 1916 in which 10 persons were killed when a bomb exploded in the midst of a parade, Mooney was known the world over.

Not only in California, but not only in America, but the world over, labor organizations, leftist groups, Communists, liberals, lawyers and judges took up the cry for his freedom on the grounds that he and his co-defendant Warren K. Billings were convicted on perjured testimony.

Thousands of dollars were poured into the Mooney defense fund almost up to the day he finally was given his freedom.

But soon after he was liberated he was all but forgotten by labor. (Continued on Page Eight)

FIFTY PARKING METER TAGS GO ON AUTOMOBILES

Fifty parking tickets were issued Thursday to motorists for overtime parking in the meter zones.

Patrolman Alva Shasteen said that most of the persons given tickets complained they did not know the meters were operating. No fines were assessed for over-parking and Friday the same "courtesy" tickets were being issued to motorists.

Council voted Wednesday night to place the meters in operation immediately and all meters were operating Thursday.

A check on the meters Thursday before 9 a. m. when they started produced 33 cents which officials said persons had put in the meters "to see how they worked."

24 HOURS PASS WITH NO CHANGE IN CAMP STATUS

Twenty-four hours have passed without a change in the status of the proposed Pickaway-Ross county Army cantonment, and the situation stands as it did Thursday. According to the War department, communicate all plans for the cantonment have been discarded.

SOUTH BEND, Wash., March 6

—Officials at the courthouse said today that in the future they would qualify their invitations to soldiers to "help themselves" to the telephones.

The last soldier so invited really did help himself. He was a homesick lad from Chicago and he called home. The long distance toll was $40.50. He said he would pay up "next payday."

WAR TODAY

Ill-Fated Java Holding War Spotlight; Luzon District Is Quiet

By Leo V. Dolan

INS War Editor

One by one the little defense citadels on the island of Java were overrun and occupied by Japanese forces today.

In Burma the Japanese also pressed on against desperately fighting British imperial troops while in the Philippines there were no moves of military significance on either side. The audacious raid by American warplanes on Japanese transport concentrations in Subic bay was believed to have disrupted enemy plans for renewal of ground attacks on the Bataan peninsula.

But beleaguered Java held the focus of war's spotlight. Hopelessly outnumbered, inadequately supported in the air, the United (Continued on Page Eight)

TWO INFANTS KILLED AS FLAMES DESTROY HOME

OXFORD, Mich., March 6—Two children—aged seven months and 21 months—were dead today, victims of a fire which consumed their Oxford home.

Bernard Dale Miller Jr., and his brother, Kenneth, were inside the three-room frame dwelling which may have caught fire from a lighted coal stove.

Flames from the blazing structure prevented the children's mother and aunt, who had been across the road at a neighboring house, from entering the building to effect a rescue.

SOLONS STUDY MEANS TO ADD SUGAR STOCKS

Drastic Action To Relieve Shortage Contemplated By Congressmen

TARIFF MAJOR QUESTION

Way May Be Found To End Quotas; Hearings Will Start Next Week

WASHINGTON, March 6 — Congress heard today that drastic action by the administration to relieve the sugar shortage, both by encouraging importation of sugar and increasing the domestic production, is under consideration.

"I know what a strong effort is going to be made to do away with benefit payments to domestic producers, and the only thing necessary for this would be an executive order suspending quotas," said Sen. Ellender (D) La.

"Such a procedure, which is being urged, would let the bars down and permit importations into this country without any quota restrictions.

"If such a procedure is followed, I hope that the full tariff duty on sugar, which was cut from $1.50 to 75 cents a hundred pounds, will be restored insofar as Cuban sugar is concerned."

Ellender predicted that domestic producers would fight suspension of import quotas and abolition of tariff restrictions. This, he said, would discourage production in the United States and thus would not relieve the sugar shortage.

Conferences Booked

The Senate finance committee plans to begin a series of conferences with government officials on the sugar situation next week. Sen. George (D) Ga., chairman, said that a way might be found to lift sugar quotas so as to increase the quantity of sugar, without creating a condition that would disturb sugar growers when the shortage has passed.

Sen. Clark (D) Mo., proposed that surplus grain be transformed into industrial alcohol, thus reducing the amount of sugar molasses which is used for this purpose.

"It has been suggested that the corn sugar and corn syrup makers are opposed to this, because they want to compel the people to use corn sugar," he said.

The sugar shortage, Clark maintained, is created primarily by diversion of molasses for industrial alcohol purposes.

Rural Schools Arranging For Senior, County Tests

Rural school superintendents made arrangements for conducting special tests when they met Thursday in the office of Superintendent George McDowell.

Senior tests will be given March 28 and county selection tests April 4 at the study hall of Circleville high school. Eighth grade tests will be held on April 17, in various testing centers selected throughout the county school system.

Also during Thursday's meeting Ann Worrell of Columbus, a representative of the Central Hospital service, appeared before the superintendents to discuss her organization's hospitalization service. She will appear at the county teachers' meeting March 14 at Wayne township school to explain the service further.

Mrs. Glen Gelb and Mrs. Sterling Lamb from the Child Conservation league discussed with the local superintendents the motion picture "Sleeping Beauty" to be held March 27 at 1:30 p. m. at the Cliftona theatre. Most of the schools agreed to sell tickets for the production.

Applications for the beef calf program being sponsored by the Circleville Kiwanis club were distributed to the local superintendents. Applicants must return their applications by March 14.

A complete financial report of the county tournament was read at the superintendent's meeting. Total receipts were $1,352.45 and expenses were $701.56, leaving a balance of $650.89. Forty dollars of the balance was distributed to each of twelve schools of the county which participated in the tournament.

ASHVILLE

Stanley Pontius, 62; his wife Cora, 54 and daughter Mildred 32, were killed near their home at Shelbyville, Ill., a few days ago by being struck by a passenger railroad train. Mr. Pontius was a brother of the late Harry Pontius, well known to everyone here.

The bank directors' meeting quarters at the Ashville Bank is shedding that frowny appearance at the hands of painter Lawrence Peters, now that it is near Spring. James Borror, president of this institution, has not been so very well for the last couple of weeks. He is at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Max and Mrs. Gray over in Licking county. They are but recent residents there having removed from the old home in Scioto township.

The basketball class tournament is getting plenty action out at school now. Boys' and girls' teams are in the contest and Herby Hoover told us that the Freshies are already out of it, put there by the Eighth Graders by a slim margin. They tell us that someone of the playing youngsters has invented an invisible, boo proof, bomb sight and what, with this thing in action at the '43 county tournament, will be a plenty and mighty tough on the other guys trying to edge in somewhere.

Harley Rhinesmith and family are now residents of Walnut township, having removed from the Fridley farm, west of Duvall, to what is known as the Dan Runkle place on the Walnut-Madison township line. Mrs. Runkle occupies a nearby dwelling across the line in Madison.

Al Flowers and wife were here from Columbus yesterday guests at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Don and Mrs. Campbell. Al has been a grocer and meat merchant near all his life. And that is not all; has at least four sons operating in the same line, all taught their stuff by Dad.

Word direct from Columbus hospitals yesterday evening said that the Barnharts, so severely injured recently in an auto smashup near Lithopolis, were "doing well and slowly improving."

Leonard Snyder, who got a real pummeling by a mad bull a few days ago at his farm near Lithopolis, and escaped with several cracked ribs and a punctured lung, is "doing s well as can be expected" at Grant hospital, so his son, Theodore Snyder in charge at Madison school told us.

EDUCATORS GIVE PARENTS FACTS OF EMERGENCY

C. R. Barnhart, chairman of the school board, and Frank Fischer, superintendent of schools, Friday, sent the following letters to all parents in the High street school district explaining the necessity of changing the year's school routine.

The letter follows:
"The heating plant at the High street school has gone out of commission. The plant is so old that it is not possible to repair it.
"This has created an emergency for the pupils attending the building. To meet this emergency, we have worked out the schedule given below. We know that you will cooperate, and do everything in your power to help up adjust matters.

"The schedule will probably be in operation until warm weather —perhaps until May 4. In the meantime, coal stoves have been installed in the two north rooms. This cannot be done in the other four rooms.

GRADES 1 AND 2
These two grades will attend school at the High street building each day from 1 p. m. until 5:15 p. m.

GRADES 3 AND 4
These two grades will attend school at the High street building each day from 8 a. m. until 12:45 p. m.

Because of this schedule, may we suggest that the children in these two grades should have a substantial breakfast?

GRADES 5 AND 6
These two grades will attend school, during the regular morning and afternoon sessions, at the Corwin-High School building. They should enter by the west Corwin street door.
Any pupils in these two grades living north of High street may bring their noon lunch, if they care to do so.

"The spiff bar," in army slang, is the local beer garden.

Winners of Corn, Soybean Show Announced; Event Huge Success

BEATTY, M'COY ENTRIES CLAIM MAJOR TROPHIES

Cash Premiums Distributed During Banquet Held Thursday Eve

DISPLAY WINS APPLAUSE

Address, Music And Movies Entertain Group During Dinner Session

By Austin Showman
Corn and soybeans were the kings at Memorial hall Thursday when the Chamber of Commerce held its third annual Corn and Soybean show.

Entries in the show totaled 152 and were pronounced the best ever shown in Circleville. John W. Cunningham, dean of the college of agriculture, Ohio State university, visited the show Thursday afternoon and reported it one of the finest he had ever seen.

Corn sweepstakes winner was C. M. Beatty of Scioto township, whose entry of open pollinated white corn was pronounced the best in the show. He was winner of the John W. Eshelman and Sons trophy, presented to him at Thursday night's banquet.

Reserve sweepstakes in the corn class went to Irvin Yeoman of Perry township for a 10 ear exhibit of Reid's Yellow Dent.

Possessor of the best single ear in the show was Wayne Hines of Walnut township with an ear of U. S. 13. He was presented with the Welch Chemical company trophy.

L. R. McCoy of Monroe township with his exhibit of Manchou soybeans won the soybean sweepstakes and the Ralston Purina trophy and reserve sweepstakes honors went to Glen Hay of Walnut township with an exhibit of Mandell.

The entries were judged by Charles Shasten of Chillicothe and Homer Smith of Jeffersonville. Arthur Johnson was chairman in charge of entries.

Professor H. R. Cotterman of Capital university was speaker at the banquet held in Pickaway Arms restaurant Thursday night.

Dr. Cotterman declared we must win the war if we want to keep our present standards of living. He pointed to the various blessings which are enjoyed by rural people in Pickaway county saying that this community was one of the most fertile in the nation as he "proved we are living on top of the world." He listed the various advancements made in science during the last twenty-five years, saying that about 25 percent of the men today are working on jobs which did not exist 25 years ago.

Music Enjoyed
Music for the banquet was furnished by Walter Chambers Jr. of Stoutsville, who played accordion selections and Miss Rose Evelyn Wardell of Williamsport Route 2 who played several numbers on the xylophone.

Colored motion pictures of western scenes were shown by Dr. E. S. Shane. Cash awards, made in silver were presented by George Foreman, chairman of the finance committee of the show and A. V. Osborn, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided at the meeting.

More than 100 persons attended the banquet.

The winners were as follows:

GAME PROTECTORS WILL AID IN DEFENSE WORK

COLUMBUS, March 6—Governor Bricker today threw the full force of the state conservation division into Ohio's civilian and industrial protection program as he directed more than 100 game supervisors and protectors to begin preparing for possible air raids, sabotage and other enemy action. In a 16-point plan, which calls for the enrollment of trustworthy hunters owning high powered rifles, the Governor announced that game protectors could play an important role in Ohio's war effort in addition to their other regular duties.

OPEN LETTERS

TO ALL OF US

FOLK: Isn't it about time we stopped that silly whine about the American people being all steamed up about the war, and they would do anything if somebody would just tell them what to do? Can't we think out anything sensible for ourselves? What has become of that good old pioneering philosophy so well exemplified in first reader stories? The Little Red Hen, for example, keeps asking people to help her and they always have a reason why they can't. So she falls back on individualism. "I'll do it myself!" said the Little Red Hen. Here are a few pointers for individualists: 1. Do the day's work well. Put your mind on ways to improve. Thus you end the day with less fatigue and perhaps with more leisure than formerly; 2. Take a Red Cross course. One at a time. Don't overdo it; 3. Buy less. Waste less. Drive less; 4. Keep cheerful. Send soldiers and nurses off with pride and hope; 5. Be moderate about everything. Keep all the affairs of life moving within the bounds of reason. It is a good country. Keep it so. You do not have yesterday, you do not have tomorrow. You have today. Make it a good day. In general, just go along comfortably and adequately. Be ready for what comes. Watch your newspapers. They'll give you necessary information. Donald Nelson is said to have a motto which seems good under all circumstances: "What would you wish, a year from today, that you had done today?"

TO AUTO PARKERS

MOTORISTS: Those of you who are still driving your cars, tire shortage and possible gasoline rationing taken into consideration, are being acquainted with Circleville's new system of parking meters. Some of you like them and some do not, but I believe that as time goes on you will feel that the meters are what the doctor ordered. There will be difficulties for a while, there will be some folk who may never get accustomed to the system, but I believe that all in all they will be accepted as necessities. Police have been instructed to tag all cars parked illegally. Persons who respond to the tickets are being treated courteously with the only reprimand coming in the form of a warning to not violate the city's ordinances again. Persons who tear up tickets, or otherwise fail to abide by police orders may face the

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

COMPLAINING bitterly of the waste involved in any advance consideration of post-war conditions, one of my readers sends me a note,

Winston Churchill

"I don't believe that President Roosevelt favors present complete disregard of the future, either. I don't believe so, for the reason that, about simultaneously with Prime Minister Churchill's talk in the house of commons, the White House announced the conclusion of an agreement between the United States and Britain 'setting forth the general principles for the post-war economic world.' Maybe this was the plan Winnie Churchill told the commons he intends to submit to 'em soon. It rather sounded like it. The pact, as outlined in broad terms, contemplates a far freer international exchange of products than the world's ever had before, presumably with a vast expansion of markets for 'em and a corresponding stimulation of trade, employment and industrial activities of all sorts. There are plenty more details but that's the nub. Inasmuch as it's an arrangement that never has been tried hitherto on so large a scale, nobody knows just how it'll work, but it ought to be near-perfection, if economic logic means anything. That is, it ought to be in the long run. Whether or not it'll prevent a nasty interval of post-war depression, while it's becoming effective, remains to be seen. It's about the maximum of optimism to think that the whole world can suspend production of everything useful, in favor of purely destructive stuff, and keep it up perhaps for a matter of years, without feeling a subsequent pinch, as to life's normal necessities, for quite a spell. But who'll be in on the bargain referred to by the White House and possibly by Prime Minister Churchill also?"

At today's writing the dicker is described as inclusive only of Uncle Sam and John Bull, over Acting State Secretary Sumner Welles' and Ambassador Lord Halifax's signatures. A great many more nations will have to subscribe to it to make it as comprehensive as it'll need to be.

And the Others? That's alright. It already is stated that the others will be welcome to join. It'll pay 'em to do it, too. It's a safe bet that all the Americas and the United Nations generally will fall over one another to get onto the dotted line. So far, good. The Axis powers, though? Once licked, they undoubtedly will be dead anxious to get in on the deal. But will the democracies be willing to let THEM in? They'll want to line their own democratic bunch up, sure. But won't they be pretty sore at Germany, Japan and Italy? How long will it take for that soreness to wear off? Directly after the war, will the democracies feel disposed to say? "All's forgiven. Sign here and be one of us." Or will they want to penalize those costs—refuse to associate with 'em, anyway? Yet a world compact, with Germany, Japan and Italy omitted, won't be a genuine 100-percent. Well, I apologize to my reader, Pete McCarthy of Dubuque, for referring to post-war problems again. Nevertheless, I'm not in such bad company—Roosevelt, Churchill, Welles and Halifax.

mayor on direct orders, and this wouldn't be so nice. Any time a custom is changed, there are persons who declare the new-fangled device or whatever it may be cannot be successful, but in nearly all cities where persons have tried to cooperate with their officials parking meters have been pronounced successes. One need go no farther than Lancaster to hear many persons say they are excellent additions. Sentiment is so much in favor of them that more meters are being ordered.

CIRCUITEER.

TO VETERANS

GENTLEMEN: An appeal has come to you from the State Highway Patrol for assistance in carrying out its defense activities. The appeal asks for service men to enroll in a training school to be set up in Circleville, the enrollees to be used to assist highway patrolmen in case of emergency in this community. Since the war, the highway patrol has had a definite lack of manpower and at the same time its services have been broadened until it is next to impossible for the department to carry them out without volunteer assistance. Past records of the patrol are sufficient to indicate that any class it might sponsor would be no "snap," but those who take it certainly would obtain the best of training in defense work.

TO INCOME TAX PAYERS

FOLK: You have only a week left to file your income tax returns, the deadline coming on March 15 and some of you may be planning on coming in just under the deadline. Those of you who fill out the simplified form will be able to calculate your tax without difficulty, but those of you who plan to use the other form will find that it takes much longer and is more complicated than you expected. In either event it's wise to get it in the mail as soon as possible.

TO KIWANIS

CLUB: At a meeting Wednesday your committee on agricultural and public relations planned to finance three steers for three outstanding rural boys of Pickaway county. Boys will be picked for their outstanding achievement in rural and 4-H club activities. For the three selected you will purchase three calves and during the year the boys furnish the feed and care for them. At next fall's Pumpkin show the calves will be sold and all profits will go to the boys. You will find an enthusiastic group of boys competing for your awards.

TO THE COMMUNITY

FRIENDS: The last few days have brought rumor on rumor concerning the possibility of an Army cantonment in the Pickaway and Ross county district, in fact there have been so many rumors that no one seems to know whether there will be a camp. My advice to every one is to sit tight, go about your daily chores and halt all rumors by refusing to listen to them. If Uncle Sam decides to spot a camp in the Circleville-Chillicothe area, I am of the opinion that he will do so, and when he is ready to start construction—if he intends to do so—that he will start.

Emergency Spurs First Aid Training of Laymen

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE TRAINING of laymen in first aid was begun by the American Red Cross in 1910 and in the present emergency a great increase in the number of applicants for training will occur.

"First aid is the immediate and temporary care given by trained persons in case of accidents before the physician takes charge," is the definition given by the American Red Cross manual.

In the United States each day, without the addition of war or bombings and plague outbreaks, there are 24,000 accidents. If every one of these were attended by a physician from the beginning, about one out of seven physicians would administer first aid every day. This, of course, is quite impossible for many reasons and the great majority of accident victims must receive their first aid care from a layman until the services of a physician can be obtained.

As a matter of fact, this is probably a good thing, provided the layman has had a Red Cross course in first aid, because very often it is possible that a layman can teach a doctor a very great many valuable tricks in first aid, provided the doctor is not too superior to learn.

"Trained laymen," writes Dr. William Reggio, of Boston, "know how to use a Keller-Blake leg splint, or a notched board or rake as substitutes, and how to apply fixed traction for safer transportation of the victim. Many physicians do not even know what a Keller-Blake splint is, much less how to apply one, and even less how to improvise or use substitutes."

First Aid Optional

The American College of Surgeons found in 1940 that not a dozen medical schools taught anything about first aid, except for the application of emergency splinting as part of fracture instruction. In half of these schools, attending a course in first aid is optional for the students.

Now first aid is really getting to be a technical subject and should not be left to the chance that a graduate physician will be able to apply the knowledge he has gained from a course in surgery when confronted with an emergency.

In many communities, but not in all, police and fire departments have their men trained in first aid and many large industrial concerns have such courses and eventually, no doubt, all employees will be trained in first aid.

Orphan in Diamonds

LORENA CARLETON

ANETTE WINSLOW, 17, beautiful, and aspiring to fame on the stage, meets LAURENCE PEYTON, top-ranking actor, and AUGUST DRAKE, Peyton's leading lady. Larry in turn introduces her to LOIS LYNDON, and her brother, JIMMY.

CHAPTER ELEVEN
FORTUNATELY Anette was spared a response to that insolent declaration. Katie had just answered the door and guests were pouring in, mainly members of the "Orchids Can Choke You" cast. With them, naturally, were August and Larry.

Instantly, and ahead of her leading man, August reached Anette's side and tossed both his mink-lined arms about her in a gesture that depicted a beautiful devotion. "The bride!" she cried out to the crowd and kissed the girl's cheek. Not once during this gushing demonstration did her eyes actually see Anette. She focused them far beyond, as she did when taking bows, apparently seeing everyone, in reality, seeing no one. It did not matter. Anette wasn't looking at August, either. She was looking beyond her, at Larry, who was fighting his way through the chattering throng.

And then she felt his arms around her and his cold, cold cheek. "You look mighty scrumptious, my love." The moment was all too brief, for Lois Lyndon moved forward, and in contrast to her glacial appearance, took hold of Larry and gave him a long kiss full on the mouth. "I've already congratulated Anette," she said casually.

August Drake's eyes were focused now on Lois Lyndon. "How sweet," she commented with vocal shading that meant many things. "Since you've paid your respects, come with me while I dress." With red-tipped fingers she pried the blond girl's hands from Larry's neck. "You'll choke the man." To the assemblage, in general, she called out, "Excuse me for a few minutes," and led the Lyndon heiress along with her.

Enthusiastic well-wishers surged forth to meet Peyton's bride. As Larry introduced them, Anette found herself kissed, embraced, plumped on the shoulders, whirled into sudden dance steps, her hands shaken, her head patted. Meanwhile the crowd grew. And the noise.

Tears gouged at Anette's eyes when she saw Walter enter the door and slide toward her through the dozens of people. Soon he was beside her, grinning through his freckles, clamping her fingers in his.

"Oh, it seems good to see you, Walter, after so long a time." He took a bacon-wrapped olive from a proffered tray, but refused the drink. "It hasn't been so long."

"It seems a long time. So much has happened."

Walter replied laconically, "Hasn't it, though?" "Stay close to me, Walter."

"And save you from the mob?" She turned troubled topaz eyes toward the doctor. "Save me from nerves. And from an inferiority complex. I'm suddenly beginning to realize what I've done, Walter. Larry is so popular. He knows everyone. He has to be here and there, speaking to them. I understand all that, but it makes me feel so unimportant—oh, Walter, I'm getting scared. I'm such a hick!"

"Hey, now! Take it easy. I should think one look in the mirror would inoculate you against an inferiority complex. More quietly he said, "As to your jealousy, I don't know—or do I diagnose incorrectly?"

"You know you don't. Please prescribe." To have a slight degree of privacy they moved near "ig windows overlooking the lake. "Probably you'll never cure it, so the best thing to do is hold your temper—and your tongue!"

The girl said inelegantly, "Til

"You look mighty scrumptious, my love," he told her.

probably bust." Larry joined them at that moment. "Humm. Very clubby." He grinned and took Walter's outstretched hand.

"I was prescribing," the young doctor said.

Instantly Peyton's face was concerned. He hugged Anette to him. "Good heavens! You're not sick, darling?"

Walter answered for her. "Nerves! And I'm afraid they are not going to improve. Someone is putting the evil-eye on you."

They followed his gaze and saw Verrazano entering, behind a group of musicians from the hotel dining room. His frowns of gloomy anger deepened as he headed toward the newly-married pair. Walter moved away diplomatically.

Anette gave a timid, "Hello," and moved still closer to her husband.

"And how is Professor Verrazano, the human snapping turtle?" Laurence Peyton inquired with false heartiness.

Verrazano looked glum and sulky, but made no reply because, just then, August Drake reentered the room and made a direct path toward the threesome. "Don't scold the children," she said lightly, and led him, with forceful fingers, along with her and Lois Lyndon.

The flame-haired actress' face was too weary and haggard to appear beautiful, yet she made a wholly beguiling picture. The guests trailed after her to where a big table had been set up. August stepped back of it and lifted the covers of two silver chafin dishes. Various articles of food were on the linen-covered table.

"Don't tell me August is going to cook?"

"Sure," shrugged Larry. "She always cooks when she has guests. Just an outlet for further exhibitionism, and the menu never varies. Hot mushrooms for hot mushroom sandwiches in one pot, oysters Poquette in the other. Then she'll fix frozen black berries in brandied cream for a sweet—and that reminds me. You are sweet, I love you, and what do you say we slip out on the balcony?"

Quietly they slipped through the opening and were met with frigid gales, blown across the icy lake. Anette began to shiver. Larry lost no time in taking her into his arms. He put both hands back of her shoulders and pressed her to him, then kissed her again and again.

Slow kisses on her mouth, quick, rapturous ones on her cheeks. "Oh, my sweet, beautiful, beautiful darling!" he breathed against her throat. "What an endless evening this has been."

She agreed. "I know, and it's hardly begun. Everything seems so strange to me. Like a dream." "Maybe these will make you know you're not dreaming," Larry pulled a push box from his pocket and pressed the clasp.

"Rings!" the girl gasped. For a second she could not catch her breath. "A diamond wedding ring—a diamond engagement ring—"

Speechless again, she stared at them. Diamonds as icy as the lake wind against her face, as brilliant as the city lights.

Anette whispered, "I can't talk. Larry, I'm so happy I feel as if I were going to choke."

"What you need, my love, is some fresh air." He led her to the very edge of the balcony where they leaned, shivering and giggling, against the balustrade.

Verrazano discovered them like that. "Planning a lovers' leap so soon?"

Without turning, young Peyton said loudly, "I think that mean old man is around somewhere again." "Yes, that is what August called me. She said I was a mean old man if I tried to separate you two."

Larry turned then and faced the teacher. "She has little room to criticize a person for that," he condemned. "She tried hard enough herself."

Verrazano said with a chuckle, "That is what convinced me not to try. I knew if Drake the Determined couldn't accomplish it, I'd not have a chance—anyway, perhaps everything will be all right." He took their elbows and led them toward the drawing room.

"I'm so glad you feel that way," Anette said.

Larry was not appeased. "What do you mean 'perhaps'?" "Just that exactly. There are a lot of angles to a marriage like this, Larry. For one thing, I won't have you interfering with Anette's career."

More exasperated than ever, the handsome leading man retorted: "Don't intend to interfere with it. What's the matter with you, anyway? Do you think I'm going to beat the girl over the head?"

Verrazano's reply was cryptic, "Not literally."

"THE LADY EVE"

"The Lady Eve" one of the gayest recent film comedies, will be presented by Cecil B. DeMille on the Radio Theatre Monday, at 9 p. m. with Barbara Stanwyck and Ray Milland in the leading roles. Both Miss Stanwyck and Mr. Milland are well-known to the Radio theatre audience by virtue of previous appearances.

For only the second time in its eight-year history the program will be abbreviated—this time because of a report to the people by President Roosevelt. Instead of running through the customary hour, the show will end at 9:45, at which time the President is scheduled to go on the air.

CARROLL RETURNS

Monday evening, Cavalcade of America will present Madeleine Carroll in a radio adaptation of the famous story of New York City in the 1880's—"The Age of Innocence," a Pulitzer Prize novel by Edith Wharton, later adapted for the Broadway stage by Chicagoan Margaret Ayer Barnes, playwright and novelist.

Miss Carroll will be featured as Countess Olenska, the lovely, young American who flees Europe and an unhappy marriage to the cradling arms of New York and its familiar Society.

RADIO BRIEFS

Captain Wyllis Cooper, who scripts "The Story of Bess Johnson," heard daily, was recently tested at the RCAF Bombing and Gunnery School in Ontario and wound up with a higher mark than the one made by the officer in charge. He has always been a mike shure-shot, too, and in addition to "The Story of Bess Johnson," he is author of and commentator on the prize-winning "Spirit of '42."

Conductor Billy Mills may take his Fibber McGee orchestra on a personal appearance tour this summer. Proposed swing around the midwest includes bookings in key cities and programs at Army camps along the route.

Appearance of Kay Kyser and Betty Grable recently on the Sunday "Screen Guild Theatre" was their first joint professional engagement after a lapse of six years. In 1936, Kyser, an up-and-coming bandleader, was playing at the Bal Tabarin in San Francisco and Betty, then vocalist with Jay Whidden's orchestra, came on the floor of the night club to sing one number as a guest performer.

Chester Lauck (Lum of radio's Lum and Abner) this week bought a terrier pup as a playmate for his huge Saint Bernard dog, "Texas." After much head-scratching, the family finally had an inspiration and named the little critter—"Rhode Island!"

ANGOTT TO FACE MONTGOMERY IN GOTHAM JOUST

NEW YORK, March 6—Two of boxing's irresistible forces, lightweight champion, Sammy Angott, and Philadelphia Bob Montgomery will collide in a twelve rounder at Madison Square garden tonight and out of the impact and the resulting debris may come a return match for the world's 135 pound crown.

Montgomery, dusky wind-mill mauler from Philadelphia, dropped a decision to Angott on the way up, back in the fall of 1940, but because of his recent record and tremendous improvement, has been made a 12-5 favorite to upset Angott in this over-weight match.

Montgomery is on the way up. Bob has whipped Mike Kaplan, Al Nettlow, Dave Day, Julie Kogan and Slugger White, in addition to Lou Jenkins, in recent bouts, and has impressed New York fans with his aggressiveness and style. Because many of the lads Bob has beaten have been welterweights, the idea has spread that he belongs in the 147 pound division.

JIMMY CROWLEY OFFERS TO SERVE IN U. S. NAVY

NEW YORK, March 6—Jimmy Crowley, Fordham football coach, disclosed today he has applied for enlistment in the Navy and that if he is accepted he will ask Fordham to be relieved of his duties there for the duration of the war. The famed member of the Notre Dame four horsemen said he already has taken his physical examination and, on acceptance, would be assigned to training air recruits in the new football-type "toughening" routine.

Six Who Had Cars Ordered Prior To First Of Year Given Buying Orders

Circleville's tire rationing board allotted 10 truck tires and two passenger car tires out of thirty applications Thursday night, turning down nearly two out of every three applications submitted.

"The rubber situation has become so serious that the board is forced to grant tires and tubes only when they are highly essential," Leslie D. May, chairman of the board, declared.

He predicted that the time is not far away when there will be no tires even for those who fall into eligibility classifications.

The passenger tires were allotted the Circleville police department for the police cruiser. One passenger tire tube was awarded to Paul Betts, a rural mail carrier. Ten truck tires were allotted, Mr. May said, all but two of them going to heavy haulers. The other two were granted to the city for use on the disposal plant truck.

Thirteen retread tires were allotted, but all of those Mr. May pointed out went to persons who proved to the board that the tires were essential to their business.

New automobiles were granted to six persons, all of whom actually made their purchases before January 1, 1942. Two other applications made since January 1 were turned down.

Those getting new car permits were W. L. Funk, South Court street; L. J. Holdeman, Circleville route 1; G. L. Crites, South Court street; Rockford C. Brown, East High street; Howard Orr, South Court street and W. O. Bumgarner, Circleville route 2.

PATRIOTIC SHOW WINS BIG EVENT FOR LUTHERANS

Fourth and final number of the Trinity Lutheran brotherhood talent contest was given Thursday evening, with Gladden Troutman, chairman, and John W. Walters and Edward Sensenbrenner as co-chairmen in charge.

The program was in the nature of a patriotic minstrel, with J. D. Hummel as interlocutor, in the role of "Uncle Sam".

The members of the cast, except the four end men, were attired in military costumes of various types. The end men were in the usual Negro minstrel costumes.

The program was introduced with the roll of drums, this being followed with the presentation of the flag, salute, oath of allegiance and singing of "The Star Spangled Banner".

The entire cast was then introduced after which veterans of World War I, E. C. Ebert, John W. Walters and H. A. Bumgarner demonstrated the manual of arms.

The next number was a musical monologue by Edward Sensenbrenner. Various musical numbers were interspersed with jokes. "K-K-K-Katy" was sung by the end men and chorus, after which E. C. Ebert and John W. Walters gave a drummer's exhibition, this being supplemented by a detailed description of construction of drums, with technique in their use. A baritone solo, "Asleep in the Deep" was sung by John W. Walters.

The Rev. George L. Troutman scored high on information in his discourse on "Chaplain's duties in the Service of His Country".

Adam Goldhart presented a rendition of a harmonica solo. End man Gladden Troutman sang "We Did It Before and We Can Do It Again", the entire cast singing the chorus.

E. C. Ebert and chorus sang the closing number "God Bless America", after which Chaplain Troutman invoked the blessing, the program being brought to a close by retirement of the flag.

The contest was judged by Leslie L. Pontius, W. E. Hilyard and F. K. Blair, the basis for judging being based on entertainment, presentation, participation, uniqueness and information.

The judges returned the decision for first place to the group performing Thursday evening, while group number two, headed by R. L. Brehmer, chairman and Luther Bower and Charles Eitel as co-chairmen, was awarded second place.

Groups one and three, group one being captained by George C. Griffith, with K. J. Hermann and George Himrod as co-chairmen, and group three with Carl C. Leist, chairman, and Luther J. List and H. Roy Stout as his co-chairmen, were given the lower rankings.

At the next meeting March 19 the judges and the winning team will be the banquet guests, while group awarded the second place will furnish the after-dinner program and the two lower groups serve the banquet.

No Joy Riding

"There may be enough for defense," he said, "but there isn't going to be any rubber for joy-riding and before long, going to business may be classed as joy-riding."

Experts of the WPB disclosed that Henderson's goal of 300,000 tons of synthetic rubber during 1943, will fall short by one third. Henderson frankly admitted in his appearance before the Senate defense committee yesterday that it would require a "miracle" to reach that goal and WPB officials agreed with him, adding that they saw little hope for it. Failure to attain the mark, Henderson said, would make the nation's rubber situation "immeasurably worse."

Petroleum Coordinator Ickes said that gasoline rationing, through a card system, might be undertaken in the near future, as a result of a critical gasoline shortage on the east coast. The type of rationing cards have already been agreed on, he said, and the step is now under consideration by the Petroleum Industry War Council. A decision may come today or tomorrow.

It was reported, meanwhile, that Henderson has privately admitted to members of Congress that there is danger that tires and rubber available now or in the near future is not sufficient to avoid disastrous delays in hundreds of defense production plants throughout the country.

TOM MOONEY

by Communist, by left wingers and by scores of politicians who used to base their campaigns on Mooney's fight for freedom.

When Gov. Olsen was campaigning for his present post, he declared that if elected his first act as governor would be to free Tom Mooney, and he did.

January 7, 1939, in a crowded session at the state capital while newsreels ground and flashbulbs popped, the governor handed Mooney his complete pardon.

Mooney's first declaration then was to say that he would begin a fight to have Billings pardoned. Mooney came to San Francisco from San Quentin and labor celebrated the event by staging a huge parade down Market street, with the AFL and the CIO temporarily burying the hatchet.

But Mooney suddenly became involved in a dispute with both organizations as to which one he should lend his support. He finally turned to the CIO for keeps, and began a tour of the country appealing for the freedom of Billings.

Gov. Olsen, in October, 1939, commuted Billings' sentence to time served.

The last heard of Billings was that he was working at his trade (which he learned in prison) of repairing watches for a San Francisco jeweler.

NEW DEBT LIMIT ACTION SPEEDED CITY OF BATAVIA

House in an unusual Saturday session tomorrow. Committee action came swiftly after Morgenthau declared that the huge figures "should frighten no one but our enemies."

Morgenthau, in an appearance before the committee, also opposed any enforced savings plan for the country, asserting that voluntary purchases of defense bonds and other securities by the people, plus the treasury's new $7,610,000,000 tax bill, will produce enough money to insure defeat of the axis.

"I hope this committee will not force enforced savings in any form," Morgenthau said in reply to a question by Rep. Robertson (D) Va., as to whether such a step might be necessary.

Warning today that despite sharply increased tax burdens most of the war still must be paid for by borrowing, the secretary said that the present debt limit will be reached next month and that Uncle Sam will owe $70,000,000,000 next June 30 and $110,400,000,000 a year from then.

"While these figures are huge in amount, they are made necessary by the great task to which Congress and the American people have dedicated themselves, namely, the task of winning this war," Morgenthau declared.

"Whatever the cost may be we are ready to face it. We are strong enough to bear it, and we know that it will be worth it in the end. As I have suggested before, our production of overwhelming quantities of war materials, an effort that makes this debt necessary, should frighten no one but our enemies."

The cabinet minister also urged approval of other sections of the debt-raising bill which would give the treasury more flexibility in the type of securities it could issue and would eliminate postal savings stamps to have them replaced by treasury savings stamps.

Along this line, Morgenthau told the committee that the treasury soon would issue these stamps, but that they would continue to be sold through the postoffices.

Defense bond sales, he said, rose

Nations forces were being pushed back or encircled in practically every sector.

Batavia fell to the invaders this morning. Later word came through from Bandung, headquarters of the defenders' command, that practically all of western Java was in Japanese hands. And nightfall found Bandung itself imperiled, with the thunder of artillery audible in the city and growing in volume as the enemy came nearer.

"The Japs have driven a wedge of steel clear through the island, cutting Java in two by reaching the southern coast at Jogjakarta."

On virtually all the Java fronts, the defenders were giving ground—but fighting for every inch of ground they yielded to the numerically superior foe.

Air Armada Built

Spurred by the United Nations reverses in Java and elsewhere in the Far East, the War department in Washington moved rapidly to provide its fighting formations on all fronts with the mightiest air armadas the world has ever known.

Secretary of War Stimson pointed out that this is "very largely an air war" and added that the air corps "will be given its proper place."

Meanwhile, responsible quarters in Washington believe the battle of India is imminent and predicted it will prove a severe test for the cause of the United Nations.

On the Burma front, British tanks thundered into action northeast of Pegu in a new attack designed to buttress the protection of Burma and thereby delay any Jap assault on India.

Meanwhile, the Japs kept moving westward in the Pegu area to cut off the two main roads leading down to Rangoon.

It was these Jap units that the British tanks attacked and fierce fighting was reported 60 miles northeast of Rangoon, the Burmese capital. The fight, according to dispatches from Mandalay, may develop into a decisive battle for possession of the Burmese capital.

Nazi Counter Blasted

The news from Russia, however, remained cheerful for the United Nations. A new Soviet high command war bulletin said a German counter-thrust during the night on the Western front had been repulsed and that in this clash 300 Nazis had been killed.

While the location of the fight was not specified, it may have occurred near the strategic town of Yuhnov, 45 miles northeast of Kaluga, which the Russians occupied by a sudden assault.

FIRE DESTROYS NAVAL HOSPITAL AT LONG BEACH

LONG BEACH, Cal., March 6—Fire of mysterious origin swept the $2,500,000 Navy hospital under construction at Long Beach and caused damage estimated today at $30,000.

Scores of workmen were imperiled by the spectacular blaze, but no injuries were reported.

The fire was brought under control after a two-hour battle by Long Beach and Los Angeles county fire fighting equipment.

Truckloads of soldiers and sailors from nearby bases were rushed to the scene to aid in fighting the blaze and to guard the area.

A search was immediately launched for possible saboteurs. Workmen said that fires broke out in the center section of the three-story, "u"-shaped building simultaneously.

The naval operations base in Long Beach ordered an investigation for possible sabotage, declaring in a brief communique:

"This fire seemed to have started at once all over the main building of the Naval hospital."

The huge hospital, covering 88 acres on the outskirts of the city, had been under construction six months. It was to have been completed in the summer. It was believed that the fire will set back construction at least one month.
